Letter from the CEO

Jeremy Booth, CEO & President of Baseball Operations
New Balance Future Stars Series

Welcome to Hartford and Dunkin' Park, home of the Hartford Yard Goats, the Double-A Eastern League affiliate of the Colorado Rockies.

This weekend we're proud to host two of our signature events with New Balance Baseball and Program 15 Sports: the Fresh 50, featuring players from the classes of 2029 and 2030, and the Underclass Premier, showcasing top prospects from the class of 2028.

To be here isn't for everyone. Selection means you've already shown the tools, the upside, and the makeup to be considered a prospect. It doesn't always mean you're the most physically mature or fully developed—if anything, that's a good sign. Players who peak too early often find themselves running out of room. The young men here are built for growth. They have athleticism, instincts, ability, and most importantly, character.

That's why this weekend matters. It's where the scouting process truly begins, where development deepens, and where players start building value for the long run. Every rep, every at-bat, every inning is part of that foundation. And every time we bring these groups together, they give us more to work with, more to believe in, and more to be excited about for the future of this game.

These players are here to compete, to hustle, and to embrace a standard set by the generations who came before them in Future Stars Series. They're writing their place in baseball history—and in our family.

For me, it's one of the most special weekends of the year. Every time we wrap it up, I'm already looking forward to the next one. So, enjoy it. Ask questions. Engage. Be part of it.

But most of all, let's watch these boys grow, compete, and take the next step in their journeys.

About the New Balance Future Stars Series

Future Stars Series (FSS) has become one of the most impactful forces in amateur baseball, both as a player development platform and as a leading figure in MLB Draft operations.

Experience Matters

FSS is built and run by actual baseball evaluators (ex-scouts, front office execs, player development staff), not just event promoters. MLB organizations trust our product. Unlike showcase-only circuits, FSS emphasizes growth, pro-style instruction, and player makeup — aligning with how MLB evaluates.

Embracing Technology

FSS scouting reports and event results are leaned on heavily by MLB clubs. With Synergy, TrackMan/Hawkeye, and other advanced tools, the Future Stars Series feeds data directly into MLB organizations in the same format teams use internally. This has amplified its importance for draft prep and cross-checking.

Earning Players Trust Through Results

Top prospects prefer FSS because our emphasis on THEIR growth is the only thing that matters. FSS mirrors pro ball, gives players a chance to be directly evaluated by MLB decision-makers, and offers a development path, not just exposure. Being selected for an FSS signature event = "I'm a real prospect." It's a badge of credibility that resonates with both peers and pro evaluators.

Expanding International Operations

FSS has bridged the international and U.S. amateur scouting worlds, giving MLB clubs a more unified view of talent. Its shift from International Week to the Main Event helped bring the global player pool under the same spotlight as domestic players. Combines in Puerto Rico, Dominican Republic, Colombia, Aruba, Canada, Bahamas, Panama, and Japan have identified hundreds of potential future MLB players.

Meet the Boss

Jeremy Booth

CEO & President of Baseball Operations, Future Stars Series

Jeremy Booth operates at the intersection of strategy, development, and culture.

Raised in a family deeply connected to sports and law, his father, Aaron Booth, was a prominent agent representing elite MLB talent which meant Booth grew up immersed in the game's culture from a young age. This upbringing instilled a blend of competitive drive, analytical thinking, and respect for the game's traditions. Coupled with a high intellectual acumen, Booth has leveraged these roots into a rare combination of instinctual evaluation, strategic foresight, and leadership gravitas.

Labeled by many as an exceptional talent evaluator and strategist, Booth is central to Future Stars Series operations, highly connected with MLB executives and scouts and known for integrating analytics with traditional scouting insight into all aspects of player development.

A fearless visionary, Booth has become synonymous with authority, insight, and influence in player development and draft operations. Having spent years at the professional levels of baseball both as a player and scout, he is a trusted advisor to numerous MLB executives and is key in recognizing emerging scouting talent.

Under his leadership, the New Balance Future Stars Series has become a unifying presence in the amateur baseball landscape, with flagship events hosted by the Red Sox, Mets, Rangers, and Dodgers. In 2024, FSS alumni made up just under 16% of MLB Draft selections and 33% of participants at the MLB Draft Combine. The program has helped secure signing bonuses totaling in the hundreds of millions across the draft and international signings and in 2025, 66 players were drafted into MLB and thousands have participated in the various regional combines and tournaments both domestically and internationally.

In addition to his FSS responsibilities, Booth also serves as a baseball analyst for KHOU, the CBS affiliate in Houston, and a Front Office Insider for ESPN 97.5, providing in-depth, real-world perspective shaped by decades in scouting, player development, and executive leadership. He is also the author of the No. 1 Amazon bestseller "Inside the Mind of a Scout", a must-read that demystifies how professional

Program 15 Sports & FSS Staff

The Program 15 Sports and New Balance Future Stars Series staff offers decades of experience at both the collegiate and professional levels of organized baseball. Our evaluators and instructors have played, coached and scouted at the highest levels of the game and have been directly involved in player development from high school to college and on to the Major Leagues.

All evaluations are performed with the goal of improving the player's self-awareness and abilities in order for them to achieve their goals. While college scholarships or a professional career can't be guaranteed, our system has helped many players across the country accomplish these feats.

Additionally, the organization has developed a strong network across all levels that, if applicable, can be accessed to help local players further their dreams in the game of baseball.

Underclass Premier Player Profiles

(Alphabetical Order)

Events Attended: HPP Tigers Scout Day, 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Asher plays a premium position, and his progression is trending in the right direction. He's added strength and improved his hands and agility behind the plate, and continues to show balance, a still head, and good separation with his hands in the batter's box. As he learns to use the opposite field more frequently, the value in his bat will skyrocket.

Events Attended: San Antonio Scout Day, 2024 Underclass Combine, 2024 Fresh 50, San Antonio/San Marcos Regional Combine, 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Austin has big-league speed, projects well in center field, and shows the traits of a legitimate hitter, including getting into good hitting position. It's future plus or better speed, and a chance at a plus glove. Austin also has some present strength and room to add more to his athletic frame.

Events Attended: Angleton (TX) Regional Combine, 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Bartee has good size but room to add more to his lean frame. He demonstrates good body control and defensively displays strong hands and actions at third base, along with a quick first step. At the plate, there's some bat speed and good hand path through the zone. Better use of his lower half will allow for more consistent, hard contact.

Events Attended: HPP Tigers Scout Day (2024), HPP Tigers Scout Day (2025)

Scouting Report: Cabral brings power potential, and his frame should allow for more strength and improved athleticism down the line. On the mound, he deploys a high three-quarter slot with a clean yet short arm path. He's displayed good control with his fastball.

Events Attended: Tyler Spartans Scout Day (2023), Tyler Spartans Scout Day (2024), 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Campbell possesses physical projection, the ability to make hard contact with some bat speed from a wide-base setup. The power and arm both project to at least average, and he picks balls out of the first well at first base.

Events Attended: San Antonio Scout Day (2024), 2025 San Antonio/San Marcos Regional Combine, 2028 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Carpenter is a fast-twitch athlete with good body control, a chance at game-changing speed, and above-average defense in center field thanks to good routes and jumps. The bat has a shot to develop well with better use of his lower half, but his hands work through the zone, and he consistently made solid contact this summer.

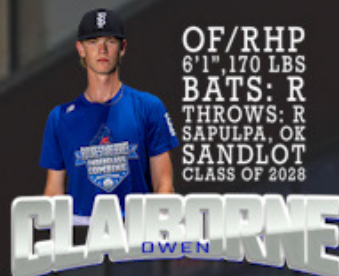

Events Attended: 2025 National Tournament, 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Castillo is a good 2-way guy - a tough combo of Catcher/ Pitcher. More than anything Aaron is a baseball player who loves to play, and will compete his tail off every time he goes between the lines. He has a mature body, with good lower body strength. He has a 3/4 slot and a pretty quick arm action. He does throw strikes with 2 pitches, and he repeats his delivery.

Events Attended: 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Charves has a solid frame that can add size and strength too. He has decent hands and actions at 3B, and his arm projects to be average to slightly above in the future. He is a 2-way guy right now.

Events Attended: Oklahoma/Sandlot Regional Combine, 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Claiborne is athletic with room to add meaningful strength to his frame. He gets good jumps in the outfield and has shown projectable arm strength and speed for center field. There is potential at the plate with contact ability and gap power as his swing matures. On the mound, he's a three-pitch right-hander with some feel for the changeup and a clean, repeatable delivery.

Underclass Premier Player Profiles

(Alphabetical Order)

Events Attended: Toronto Regional Combine, 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Clark possesses good lower-body strength, quiet hands for receiving, and solid arm strength. At the plate, it's a strength-based swing with growth potential in the power department as he learns to engage his lower half better.

Events Attended: Georgia Premier Scout Day (2023), Georgia Premier Scout Day (2025), 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: It's a projectable frame, including long arms and broad shoulders, and room to add. He throws strikes from a three-quarter slot, repeats his delivery with easy arm action, and shows good feel for his slider and changeup.

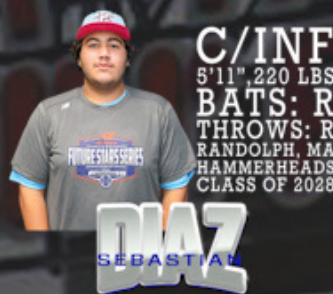

Events Attended: 2024 National Tournament, South Texas Fall Tournament, 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Compean is athletic and combines his speed and agility with good routes to project well in center field. At the plate, it's a simple setup and swing that produces a lot of solid contact, and with better separation and use of his legs may develop average power.

Events Attended: Georgia Premier Scout Day (2025), 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Cabbage is a two-way talent with a strong lower half that benefits him on the mound and at the plate. It's a three-quarter slot and short arm action. He throws strikes with his fastball and slider. As a hitter, he's a physical bat with strength and bat speed to drive the ball into the gaps.

Events Attended: 2025 Boston Regional Invite

Scouting Report: Catcher and first baseman with present pull-side power and projection to drive the ball to all fields as he matures. Offensively, shows traits of a true hitter with impact potential in the bat. Defensively, has enough ability behind the plate and the arm strength to control the running game, with continued improvements in strength and agility expected as part of his growth. Profiles as a prospect with future value at either the college or pro level.

Events Attended: Arizona Regional Combine (2025), 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Dillon has good lower-body strength, serving as a solid foundation for future contact and some power if he can stay in his legs more and create separation. He has a chance to develop arm strength that plays behind the dish or in a corner somewhere.

Events Attended: 2025 Boston Regional Invite

Scouting Report: Center fielder and pitcher with athleticism and arm strength that allow him to cover the middle of the field effectively. A left-handed thrower, he shows feel for secondary velocity projection on the mound and the ability to develop further as he matures. Athleticism, instincts, and game-play ability are the standout tools, making him a versatile two-way prospect with a high ceiling.

Events Attended: 2025 Boston Regional Invite

Scouting Report: Catcher and first baseman with catch-and-throw ability to control the running game. Shows projection in both body and bat, with tools that suggest his best baseball is still ahead. Athleticism, instincts, and aptitude profile well for the collegiate level, with the potential to reach higher if development continues on track. A prospect whose physical and mental tools point to continued growth and impact.

Events Attended: 2025 Boston Regional Invite

Scouting Report: Shortstop and catcher with natural baseball instincts and leadership on the field. A player who sets the tone by example, giving quality at-bats and responding well to adversity. Athletic with noticeable upside at this stage, projecting to impact key positions and contribute meaningfully as he matures. A high-character prospect whose makeup and skill set stand out alongside his tools.

Underclass Premier Player Profiles

(Alphabetical Order)

Events Attended: Georgia Premier Scout Day (2025), 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Garibaldi projects to run, field, and throw well, and at present makes consistent, solid contact at the plate. As he adds strength to his projectable frame and uses his legs more, he'll be able to reach the gaps. His hands work through the zone, and he plays with a slow heartbeat.

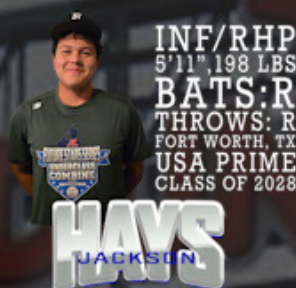

Events Attended: NorCal Elite League (2022), NorCal World Series (2024), 2024 National Tournament, NorCal World Series (2025), 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Gonzalez is a highly athletic, switch-hitting middle defender with the hands, arm, and actions to play either shortstop or catcher. He employs a short swing with a good hand path to the ball that leads to regular, solid contact.

Events Attended: 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Left-handed pitcher and first baseman with two-way upside. As a hitter, shows the ability to use the whole field, with a balanced swing and feel for making consistent contact. On the mound, projects as a developing left-handed pitcher with future velocity and command potential. Athletic and advanced for his age, his tools profile as impactful both at the plate and on the mound, giving him strong two-way projection.

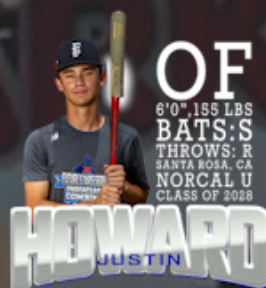

Events Attended: Tyler Spartans Scout Day (2024), 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Hays possesses legitimate two-way skills, starting with a future plus arm and improved agility for a shot to stick at third base. Offensively, Hays squares up the baseball with bat speed, and he engages his legs well. The hands work, and a shorter path could unlock more potential. As a pitcher, he uses three pitches, including a solid-average slider with good spin rates and depth, and a changeup with fade.

Events Attended: NorCal Regional Combine (2025), 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Hillis has two-way ability and projects for three average or better tools -- throw, defend, run -- and his ability to block, receive, and throw with strength and accuracy stands out consistently. On the mound, his arm speed is noticeable, and he was up to 88 mph in the Underclass Combine. His slider carries promise, lending a profile as an aggressive two-pitch reliever.

Events Attended: NorCal Regional Combine (2025), 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Howard's athleticism and raw speed stand out and should improve as he adds to his projectable frame. He's comfortable from both sides of the plate, showing good hands through contact. It may be 70-grade speed, which would help him stay in center field.

Events Attended: UA Prime San Antonio Scout Day (2023), San Antonio Scout Day (2024), 2024 Underclass Combine, 2024 Fresh 50, San Antonio/San Marcos Regional Combine (2025), 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Kendrick possesses two-way ability and has put himself in a position to excel at both. He throws from a high three-quarter slot, projecting a solid fastball and slider, and has a chance to throw strikes consistently. With better lower-half usage in his swing, he could approach solid-average power production.

Events Attended: San Antonio Scout Day (2024), 2024 Underclass Combine, 2024 Fresh 50, South Texas Fall Tournament, 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Lange is a two-way player with a developing hit tool, projectable speed and defense, and solid control of three pitches on the mound. He has fast-twitch athleticism and arm strength to profile in center field. As a hitter, he controls the zone and makes consistent hard contact with a compact swing.

Events Attended: Toronto Regional Combine, 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Marchildon has arm strength that serves him well at third base, and the physical foundation to develop as a pitcher, where there's legitimate upside for the next level.

Underclass Premier Player Profiles

(Alphabetical Order)

Events Attended: San Antonio Scout Day (2024), 2024 Underclass Combine, 2024 Fresh 50, 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Parks is a solid athlete with a good frame, with room for more size and strength. There's some pop in the bat, and he profiles as a solid-average contact hitter.

Events Attended: Philadelphia Regional Combine, 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Pass profiles as an everyday corner bat. He has all the makings of an athlete with the tool set to profile in the middle of the lineup. It's a large frame with projection, and when he's direct to the ball, it's LOUD. Will land somewhere between Derrick Gibson and Aaron Judge physically, and it's already fun to watch.

Events Attended: HPP Tigers Scout Day (2024), 2024 Underclass Combine, 2024 Fresh 50, HPP Tigers Scout Day (2025)

Scouting Report: Pilolli has a strong frame with an athletic build. Projection could get him around MLB average in contact and power, and he should run well enough to handle a corner spot.

Events Attended: Arizona Regional Combine (2024), 2024 Underclass Combine, 2024 Fresh 50, 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Platt has good size and still room to add. Defensively, he gets good jumps and takes good routes. At the plate, he hits the ball hard frequently and stays on the ball through contact. On the mound, Platt shows presence and a clean, repeatable delivery from a three-quarter slot. Both secondaries show promise, and he projects to throw strikes.

Events Attended: 2025 Boston Regional Invite

Scouting Report: Right-handed pitcher and first baseman with arm strength, velocity, and projection on both sides of the ball. Physical athlete with emerging power in his swing and presence on the mound. Athleticism and skill are still aligning, but his ceiling is high, and his tools suggest impact potential at the next level. A fun, competitive player who has earned his place on the stage, with his best days still ahead.

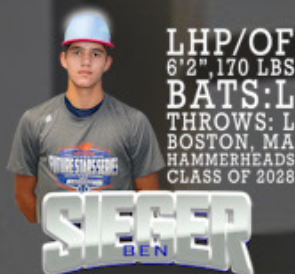

Events Attended: NorCal Regional Combine, 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Ravalin is athletic and handles a premium position on the field with a chance to be very good at catcher. At the plate, it's a smooth swing with bat speed and a knack for using the opposite field.

Events Attended: HPP Tigers Scout Day (2025)

Scouting Report: Rouse has a projectable frame, throws strikes with three pitches, and his athleticism should lead to a clean, repeatable delivery. He throws from a high three-quarter slot, and the curveball has tight break and good shape.

Events Attended: 2025 Boston Regional Invite

Scouting Report: Left-handed pitcher and center fielder with two-way upside. Shows the ability to swing the bat with a gap-to-gap approach and the athleticism to cover ground in center field. On the mound, commands a fastball effectively and shows enough secondary pitches to project as a potential two-way contributor. Profile suggests impact at the collegiate level, with pro upside dependent on continued development, strength gains, and growth in his athletic profile.

Events Attended: HPP Tigers Scout Day (2024), 2024 Underclass Combine, 2024 Fresh 50

Scouting Report: Simpson is an athletic center fielder with wiry strength, a quick bat, and a line-drive swing. His speed allows him to steal bases. As a pitcher, Simpson has a quick arm, good delivery, and throws a lot of strikes with three pitches.

Events Attended: GPA Scout Day, 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Cates does a good job controlling the strike zone and forcing hitters to swing at his pitch. It's a high three-quarter slot and he shows good feel for his changeup. As he grows into his physicality, the added strength should help him naturally add velocity and improve his chances to be a full-time starter.

Scouting Report: Cruz is a young player with a good frame that will allow for added size and strength, which should help with footwork, blocking, and throwing. As a hitter, it's simple from setup to swing, and if he can get better using his lower half and loading his hands he will hit the ball with more authority, because he has the ability to put the barrel on the ball.

Scouting Report: Rendon has tons of physical projection left that will help him impact the game with all five tools. Defensively, his hands and actions bode well for his chances to defend up the middle long term. With the bat, adding strength will help him turn contact into hard line drives.

Events Attended: Orlando Regional Combine, 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Roa offers a chance at five valuable tools. He's aggressive in the field, showing solid jumps, and the arm projects to average or better. At the plate, there's plenty of bat speed to project some power. As he learns to say inside the ball more and stay under better control in the box, Roa's bat will grow considerably.

Events Attended: 2025 Boston Regional Invite

Scouting Report: Shortstop and third baseman with clean defensive actions. Hands and feet work well, supported by plenty of arm strength across the diamond. Offensively, fits toward the top of a future professional or collegiate lineup with a disciplined approach and strike-zone control. Even when the bat is quiet, the defensive ability is strong enough to keep him on the field.

Events Attended: 2025 Boston Regional Invite

Scouting Report: Shortstop and third baseman with the athletic actions to remain in the middle of the field. Shows first-step quickness, soft hands, and natural feel around the bag, projecting to stay at shortstop with the versatility to shift to third if needed. Still early in his development, but flashes impact potential both on the bases and in the batter's box as he matures and grows into his game.

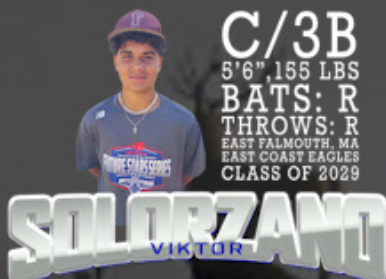

Events Attended: 2025 Boston Regional Invite

Scouting Report: Versatile corner player with offensive upside and a power ceiling. Drives the baseball well in batting practice and shows a disciplined, balanced approach at the plate. Profiles as a bat-first prospect, with enough defense to stay on the field but an offensive trajectory that will need to carry in a run-production role. Also pitches for his high school and travel team.

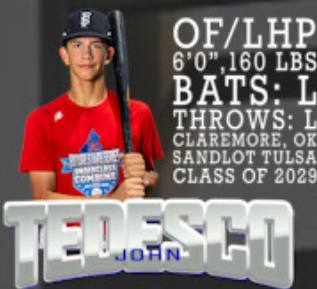

Events Attended: Vaughan Vikings HPP Scout Day, 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Scarfo is a legitimate two-way talent. He is athletic with good body control, and the frame is lean with room to add size and strength. Defensively, he takes good routes and makes all the routine plays. With more physical strength and better use of his legs, he'll gain more barrel control and bat speed. On the mound, it's a short, three-quarter slot, a projectable curveball, and a changeup to develop.

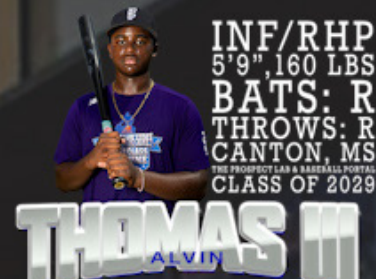

Events Attended: 2025 Boston Regional Invite

Scouting Report: Catcher and third baseman with arm strength that plays across the field and enough offense to complement his defensive value. The goal is to keep him behind the plate, where his tools fit well, but if he transitions to a corner spot, there is more than enough extra-base strength and developing power to carry the profile. Shows strike-zone control but will swing and miss at times — a tradeoff for the impact bat potential he brings.

Events Attended: Oklahoma Regional/Sandlot Scout Day, 2025 National Tournament, 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Tedesco can run, defend, throw, and projects to hit with the tools to stay in center field and be very good there. As he adds strength, his left-handed power could approach or extend beyond average, too. On the mound, he offers projectable and quality velocity, feel for a very good changeup, and a curveball with a chance to be average, all from a three-quarter slot and a repeatable delivery.

Events Attended: Oxford Regional Combine, 2025 Underclass Combine

Scouting Report: Thomas has maintained strength and added athleticism, helping him stay on track as a two-way player. He's made progress with his defensive footwork and hands, but his bat leads the way thanks to bat speed and developing power. As an arm, Thomas has shown a good curveball with tight rotation and depth. Developing a changeup offers him a real shot to pitch long term.
